Seniors plan Au Sable trip

The American Associated of Retired Persons is planning a trip to the Au Sable on August 10 and all persons, 60 and over, are invited.

The one-day affair will cost $40 and will include the bus fare and food. For further information contact Addy Taylor at 721-9042.

Social Security chief main speaker

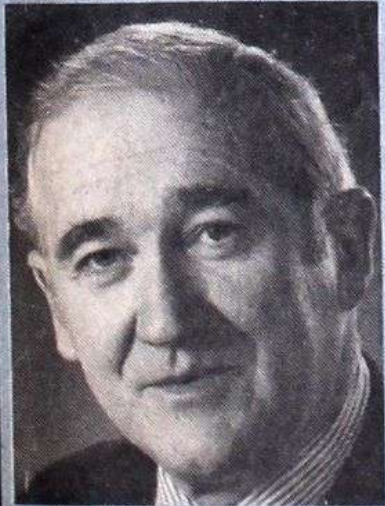

William Driver, Commissioner of Social Security in 1980 and 1981 will be in the area on Monday, July 19 and Tuesday, July 20 to speak to interested citizens on the present and future status of Social Security.

Driver was invited to speak at a series of seminars being set up by Roger Cadaret, a local candidate for State Representative in the 37th district.

Cadaret, who served on the staff of the Social Security Subcommittee in the U.S. House of Representatives says, "There is a lot of misunderstanding and unnecessary fear being generated by the media and politicians. Too many politicians prey on the fear of senior citizens and that's unfair. I've asked Bill, a senior citizen himself, to tell the people what's really going on and try to ease their minds. There's more good news surrounding Social Security than bad, but we're only hearing the bad."

The schedule for the free seminar series is as follows: Monday, July 19 — 7:00 p.m. Romulus Senior Citizens Towers 3650 Bibbins, Romulus and Tuesday July 20 — 11:00 a.m. Wayne Community Center 4635 Howe, Wayne and 2:00 p.m. Community Room, Van Buren Township Hall 46425 Tyler Rd. Belleville.

Driver was retired when President Carter asked him to take over the Social Security Administration in 1980. Prior to that he was President of the Manufacturing Chemists Association for 10 years and Administrator of Veteran's Affairs for 4½ years under Lyndon Johnson. He worked in the Veteran's Administration 17 years before becoming its head.

Team Work

Mayor William Oakley breaks out in a smile after he accepts in behalf of the elected officials a second place ribbon for a parade float entered by the officials in the annual Fourth of July parade. Although early morning rains threatened to wipe out the festivities, the rains stopped and the sun later broke through to give all something to smile about. For the story and a picture page of Fourth of July activities, please turn to Page A-3.

Belleville may change form of city government

With the Belleville City Charter Commissioners finishing their job, the work of selling the new document to the voters now begins.

And one of the major issues that will face Belleville voters during the August 10 primary elections is whether or not they want a new form of government.

Incorporated in the proposed city charter is an item that would abolish the present mayor-council form of government to a city manager-council form.

Belleville Mayor Justin Emerson has been a vocal advocate in the change to the city manager type of government and repeatedly has urged citizens to consider the change "because we need professionals to do this job now."

Whether the majority of the voters agree with the mayor, time will tell. However, they will have an opportunity to vote "Yes" or "No" on the following question on Aug. 10:

"Shall the charter proposed by the Belleville Charter Commission be adopted?"

That question should draw more than the usual 20 percent to the polls.

Another issue that should bring the voters out in the primaries is the Democratic race for the state representatives job in the 37th district.

The job is presently being handled by incumbent Edward Mahalak (D-Romulus) who finds himself in a tight race to keep it from challengers attorney Roger Cadaret of Romulus, Canton Township planner James Kosteva, and Betty "Jo" Price, a Wayne County Sheriff's Deputy.

Reapportionment has formed a single district out of Wayne, Romulus, Belleville, Van Buren Township and the southern and western portions of Canton Township.

Another race that should prove interesting is for the seat on the Van Buren Township board of trustees Thurston Jahr, who replaced Fred Domen earlier this year, will find able challengers in Marilyn Montgomery, a well-known, longtime resident of the township, and Richard Edwards, battling for the Democratic nomination.

The survivor will face Republican Ron Yurchak, who successfully spearheaded a petition drive to force a recall election, also scheduled for Aug. 10.

Facing the voters on that date for their jobs will be Supervisor Patricia Cullin, Treasurer Tom Welty, clerk Doreen Craven, as well as trustees Chester Wojcie and Tim Toohey.

Council fails to agree on arcade amendment

Although city council has a communication from its attorney, Charles Lowther, not to prolong action on the mechanical amusement device ordinance, it appears that has happened. Council members can't agree on "A" and "B".

Those two simple letters indicate whether the city would group all mechanical devices under one ordinance or treat those arcades wanting only one or two devices separately.

Council tabled action on the proposed arcade ordinance last Tuesday and gathered for a Thursday afternoon workshop session. However, councilman John Lewkowicz reported a "deadlock" and the moratorium remains.

"We just couldn't agree," said Lewkowicz who wants a strong ordinance for all arcade operators. "The stalemate exists and right now I just don't know where we'll go from here."

Lewkowicz is advocating that all arcades fall under the license control, while Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks, councilman Barry Baumann, and City Clerk Ray Cantrell feel that those proprietors with fewer than three machines shouldn't be subjected to the same rigid ordinance rules.

The proposed ordinance would require all operators of mechanical devices to make application for them at the city clerk's office. The application would be published in the local newspaper, after which the operator or licensee would have to receive the consent of 51 percent of the residents 18 years or older who reside within 1,000 foot radius of the proposed arcade before he would receive the license.

The same rules and regulations governing other licenses, such as fire and police inspections, along with electrical, building and ordinance department inspections would also be involved before the council made final approval of the application.

Lowther has informed council that the moratorium presently in existence and offered by Lewkowicz could be successfully challenged.

In a communication to council, Mayor William Oakley said that "We are receiving daily requests from persons who wish to place one or two machines in their place of business, and it seems unfair to delay the granting of licenses to such individuals when the real concern is those places who have amusement devices."

Bergeron is named council representative to pension bd.

After a tense and drawn-out battle, the City Council named as its representative to the Pension Board councilman Peter Bergeron.

Bergeron, nominated by Barry Baumann, has experience and acuity in the profession and became a bizarre chain of events as councilman Jimmie Raspberry failed to get his first choice, John Lewkowicz, approved.

Raspberry started what became a bizarre chain of events as council failed to agree on his nominations. First, Raspberry put up for consideration Lewkowicz' name. That failed to muster enough votes.

He then moved to select Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks, for the post. That also failed. In subsequent motions he asked council to consider naming Junior Block, Barry Baumann and finally, Alan Lambert to the post.

All failed.

In disgust, Raspberry yielded to Baumann, who then placed Bergeron's name for consideration and council voted 4-2 to concur. With Bergeron abstaining from the vote, Block, Mrs. Banks, Lambert and Baumann approved the nomination.

The Pension Fund has come under scrutiny in recent weeks as city treasurer Beverly McAnally had asked Council to re-examine the agreement with the insurance company, Manufacturer's Life Insurance Company of Toronto, Canada.

Mrs. McAnally had earlier stated that if the city could come up with a more feasible, reasonable offer from competitive companies, the city should study the offers.

Super Sewer system is in construction stages

It appears "super sewer" is in the "build stage." The sewer, known as the Huron Valley Wastewater Control System, has been on the drawing boards for the past 2½ years and the partially-federally funded project has been the topic of debate since its announcement.

The system would service approximately 20 communities, including Romulus, Huron, Belleville, Van Buren, Canton and Sumpter.

At a recent meeting in Woodhaven, representatives from the participating communities were informed that the project is getting down to the "financing and implementation."

"If the municipalities are interested," Paul stated, "be ready to kick in some dollars. The design for the system servicing Romulus has been completed and approved by all government agencies."

David J. Paul, director of Public Works for the City of Romulus, informed Romulus City Council in a communique that "it (super sewer) is getting down now to the bottom line of the whole project."

"The project will be going into the Walled Lake area and that is under design at this time," Paul continued. "There will be meetings in the near future to discuss the exact amount of money each municipality will be expected to contribute for the actual installation of the sanitary sewer line and for the treatment plant itself."

The plant will be constructed in Brownstown Township, according to Paul's communication.

Super Sewer is going to be built in phases and the section which eventually will service Romulus and the area apparently is slated for construction in the second phase.

"We will keep council and the administration posted as time grows near concerning the ultimate decision regarding exact monies and how we intend to pay for it," Paul concluded.

Boroff seeks county position

"As an hourly worker all my life and a member of the public segment that pays the highest percentage of taxes, I will speak for the majority of the people in Wayne County - the workers."

With that statement, J. B. Boroff, of 32436 Woodbrook in Wayne, launched his campaign for the Democratic nomination in the County Commission race in District 11.

Boroff will face strong opposition from Canton's Doug Ritter, Wayne's Milton Mack and Huron Township's Gary Bates along with Edward D'Angelo of Belleville - all announced candidates for the office.

Boroff has been employed as a machine setter for Ford Motor Company for the past 18 years and is a member of UAW Local 182 and Cul de Sac Homeowners Association.

"I would work hard, if elected, to show all our citizens that government is for their benefit and not just for professional politicians," Boroff said.

J. B. BOROFF

One of 15 new county districts, the 11th includes Wayne, Romulus, Huron, Belleville, Van Buren and Canton.

Boroff views as a major issue "the confidence in a candidate to work for the benefit of the people of Wayne County, and not just another slick lawyer promoting himself up the political ladder."

"The county commissioner's position is a part time job," Boroff continued, "and always has been. County commissioners should take a 50 percent pay cut to help erase the $17 million deficit."

Married to Ann, the Boroffs have six children: Shana, 11, Tim, 25, Mark, 26, Chris, 29, Karen, 32, and Linda, 34.

One of four Democratic candidates seeking the job as state representative from the 37th District quickly accepted Jim Kosteva's challenge to "debate the issues."

However, incumbent Edward Malahak (D-Romulus) and a fourth hopeful, Betty "Jo" Price, haven't responded.

Responding immediately to the suggestion, Roger Cadaret announced his eagerness to debate the other candidates for State Representative in the 37th District.

Cadaret, a Democrat from Romulus, stated: "My qualifications and capability can be quickly proven in open debate. I'm the only candidate not looking for a better job. I'm in this race because I'm tired of being walked on by bureaucrats and politicians who only know what it's like to be "in" government rather than "under" it."

Cadaret, a father of two, says he became extremely concerned after becoming involved in the Romulus Schools' financial situation and seeing that Lansing would let the schools go bankrupt while children in Birmingham and Bloomfield could enjoy school supported water-polo. He said, "As an attorney I feel this is a violation of the Michigan and United States Constitutions. The quality of a child's education should never depend on where he is born and raised."

When asked about the recent failure of a local school millage vote, Cadaret said, "After tremendous property tax reassessments and a 22 percent income tax hike, people are so fed up they are voting against their own schools. What frustration. One person told me that if enough schools go bankrupt, the state will finally have to act."

"I don't believe our kids can wait that long. We need to make some changes right now. My years of experience in industry tell me it can be done. You need goals and the desire to achieve them."

"We don't need people that want to better or perpetuate their own position. If elected, I won't need to be re-elected because I can go back to the company I'm currently working for. Let's debate."

Romulus to host hopefuls

Forty-five candidates for national, state and county offices have been invited to attend a "Meet-Your-Democratic-Candidate" night to be held at 7:30 p.m., Tues., July 20 at the VFW Hall located at 39270 Huron River Drive, Romulus.

The meeting, sponsored by the Western Wayne County Democratic Association, representing nine western Wayne communities, will be moderated by Van Buren Township Supervisor Patricia Cullin.

Tentative format for the meeting allots each candidate limited time to outline his or her reasons for seeking the office and the major goals the candidates hope to achieve if successful.

Additional time will be allowed for questions from the audience or rebuttals.

All interested persons and citizens are invited to attend and "meet their candidates."

Bates also eyes 11th district race

The race for the coveted Wayne County Commissioner's job in the newly-forged 11th District heated up last week as Huron Township Board member Gary Bates leaped into the battle.

Bates, a self-employed graduate of landscape architecture from Ohio State University, has been active in the area, serving on various board and committees.

A Democrat, he will face challengers Milt Mack of Wayne, Doug Ritter of Canton Township, Edward D'Angelo of Belleville, and J.B. Boroff of Wayne. All are Democrats.

The newly-designed 11th District includes Romulus, Canton, Wayne, Belleville, Sumpter and Van Buren.

"If I am elected," Bates said, "my goal is to develop county government into an efficient operation that would gain the respect of its residents and taxpayers and also instill a philosophy of a day's work for a day's pay among county employees."

Bates insists that the new charter provides better essential public services than the past one and stressed "that the new charter should not just be a continuation of our old methods and philosophies."

"A document is as good as the people who are mandated to make it work," Bates added.

Married to Rose Mary, the Bates have three children: Scott, Pat and Kim. The Bateses make their home at 24765 Bell Road in New Boston.

"The 11th district will need strong representation," Bates added. "The weight of Wayne County is often expressed by the central city. I have the ability and good fortune to be an independent thinker, to challenge complacency, to recognize inefficiency and I'm not afraid to say so."

In concluding, Bates added, "that through my past experience with community government I have found that varying opinions are the best way to resolve the best interest of the public."

"Those opinions have to be presented, argued upon, and resolved justifiably. Complacency in a public official is very dangerous to the public he or she represents."

"When I become complacent, then I should not be involved in public service," Bates said.

Romulus puts on a real 4th of July show

Along with millions of towns across the United States, local communities joined in the commemoration of this nation's birth last week.

And thousands flocked to Van Buren Park where residents were celebrating the Fourth of July and Family Day, a day originated by township treasurer Tom Welty "to bring our families together during these trying times and also enjoy a day that all Americans will never forget."

"It was just super — super great," said Welty during the festivities. "There were, I believe, 20,000 to 30,000 in the park and I can say that everyone enjoyed themselves."

"I don't believe that there was an incident — it was fun old-fashion style," Welty added.

The "Family Day" program was created to help defray the cost of the park's upkeep. The township doesn't levy taxes to maintain the park or purchase new equipment.

So four years ago Welty decided to plan a "Family Day" gathering and more than 10,000 showed up to take part.

"I never would have dreamed that it would continue to grow like it has," he said.

And what do you do for an encore?

Although early morning rains threatened to destroy the programs, the weather cleared for the rest of the day and the people continued to flock into the park.

A similar story is told by Dennis Davidson, Romulus Parks and Recreation Director. Davidson organized the Fourth of July Parade and picnic and was pleased with the outcome.

"And I believe we learned a lot to make next year's festivities even greater."

Here comes Uncle Sam

seated), Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks, and Mayor William Oakley take in the view seated. The float was awarded a second place ribbon.

Who cares about the rain?

Despite early morning rains that dampened their spirits only momentarily, Romulus residents turned out to wave and cheer during the annual 4th of July celebrations. They saw marching bands, pageant queens, floats and many more during the parade that ended with a huge family-style picnic in Kennedy Park.

A double victory

Waving high their first place trophy, this group of "Cory Cluster" Girl Scouts earned a pair of coveted first places during the annual festivities. The scouts were awarded a first place for marching and also earned a first place for the best float entry.

He'd rather ride a bike

Sporting a first place ribbon is Mark Lewkowicz, who's also all painted up as a clown, one of many attractions featured during last week's 4th of July celebrations in Romulus. Mark is sporting his first place ribbon, representing the Unicyclists — first place in Walkers Division.

Dancin' in the rain

This little girl came well prepared for the rains that caused some concerns during the 4th of July parade. But when the rains dissipated, the youngster turned the umbrella to her advantage and managed to snag candy thrown to the crowds by the parade participants and politicians.

A stately salute

The Michigan Legislature recently paid tribute to Van Buren Township clerk Doreen Craven "for her exceptional ability and expertise in community relations and for earning the designation of Certified Municipal Clerk." The concurrent resolution was presented to Mrs. Craven by State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus) who added that "Van Buren Township can consider itself very lucky to have an elected official who is so totally dedicated to her job. As a matter of fact, I can say with confidence that Doreen has made public service a way of life." Mrs. Craven was awarded the designation of Certified Municipal Clerk earlier this year by the International Institute of Municipal Clerks. She received the award after completing a 3-year program by attending Michigan State University and Syracuse University in New York.

County seeks approval to borrow $20 million

With permission of the State Municipal Finance Commission (MFC), Wayne County will try borrowing $20 million to meet expenses through November, the end of the fiscal year.

Collateral for the loan would be tax revenue after Dec. 1. The idea is to borrow on anticipated taxes, the County's own resources. It does not propose use of state funds, although approval of the MFC is required for seeking the loan through private lending institutions.

Since 1979 the County has borrowed on tax anticipation notes except for the last fiscal year. A previous $20 million deficit was eliminated at the last budget session, at which time Board Chairman Samuel A. Turner declared, "We've had a deficit but we've held it steady, and finally we've wiped it out. Surprises can always occur, but at the moment we don't foresee more deficits for the County."

This year, however, the County is facing another $20 million deficit because of an approximate $8 million loss of state and federal revenue, and $4 million from a change of accounting procedures, plus unexpected expenditures and inflation costs.

The Board tried to offset the projected deficit through employee concessions in labor negotiations, but labor bargaining units would agree only to extend the existing contract for another year, their fourth year without a pay increase.

As an alternative to laying off more than 650 employees, about one fifth the work force, the Board of Commissioners instead placed a one mill (for one year) tax increase on the August 10 primary ballot. The one mill would generate about $18 million, and although its new revenue could not be collected until next year, it would also serve as collateral for borrowing to handle immediate financial needs.

In past years when the County had to borrow, employees suffered delayed paydays and deferred cost-of-living adjustments.

The commissioners decided to seek permission for a loan during their meeting on July 8, when they also appointed a new member to the Board replacing Clemens E. Bykowski, who resigned to successfully campaign for State Representative.

The new commissioner, representing District 16, is George Orzech, a Detroit fire fighter and former member of the Charter Commission. He has a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Michigan.

Views On Dental Health

By KENNETH A. FOX, D.D.S.

HOW TO REDUCE SWELLING.

There are two kinds of swelling associated with dental problems (trauma and infection) and they are treated in different ways. So, first you should determine the cause.

Usually you'll know if it is the result of a trauma, such as a baseball bat to the jaw or a dental procedure like a tooth extraction. Swelling from an infection is usually preceded by pain and may cause an overall sick feeling, with fever and perspiration. In either case, you should see the dentist as soon as possible. Allowing the swelling doesn't cure the cause.

For swelling caused by injury or dental procedure, the treatment is ice. An ice pack should be applied for a minimum of half hour on and half hour off.

For swelling caused by an infection, heat is applied. A heating pad, hot water bottle or hot towel applied to the face will dilate (enlarge) the blood vessels and enable more of the infection-fighting elements of the blood (or antibiotics, if they have been prescribed) to come to the infected area.

Hit-and-run case

Reward offered in accident

A reward is being offered by the parents of a 19-year-old Inkster woman, who was injured in a hit-and-run motorcycle accident June 27 in Westland.

Edward West of Inkster is offering the reward in hopes of obtaining information leading to the arrest of the person driving the car, which struck his daughter, who was riding a motorcycle, on Cherry Hill Road at Ravenwood, between Newburgh and Wayne roads, at 3:31 a.m. that day.

The motorcycle was not severely damaged in the accident. Westland Police officers are looking for a yellow Triumph

TR-7 with damage to the driver's side and a black strip on the side. The car was seen by a motorist at C & O Railroad tracks west of Newburgh Road, traveling in excess of 80 miles per hour. It ran the traffic light at Newburgh Road and apparently sideswiped Mrs. Kimball while traveling eastbound on Cherry Hill Road. Yellow paint was found on her pants.

According to Mrs. West, her husband will be selling his motorcycle to raise the money for the reward.

Information can be directed to Officer Gary Meldrum, Westland Police Traffic Bureau, at 722-9633.

Fall fatal from pick-up

Truck ride costs teen his life

Standing in the rear of a moving pick-up truck cost a 17-year-old Ypsilanti Township youth his life on Saturday.

According to Washtenaw County officials the victim, Steven O'Quinn of 1799 Patrick, was killed instantly when he fell from the vehicle operated by Christopher Ryan Sanchez.

Sanchez, also 17, of Belleville, told police officials that he was traveling west on Textile between Rawsonville and McKean about 8 p.m. when the fatal mishap occurred.

Washtenaw sheriff's deputies said that O'Quinn climbed from the cab of the moving truck into the bed, apparently leaned over the side of the truck to say something to Sanchez when he lost his balance and fell onto the highway.

Deputies said that the victim was then struck by a car traveling behind the truck.

A second passenger in the truck, Alissa Smith, 16, also of Belleville, was too stunned to offer police any further information of the accident at the time of the incident.

Who's to say that parades are only for people to enjoy? Terri Renke brought her dog along to watch the parade, and it's hard to tell if that look of canine contentment is brought on by the parade or by the good weather.

Holiday death toll cause of deep concern

Although the state's second summer season holiday weekend traffic fatality count was 22, identical to the 1981 experience, Col. Gerald Hough, director of the Michigan State Police, said he is, "Deeply concerned over the loss of lives over the July 4th 78-hour holiday period."

Hough noted however, that during the ten July 4th holidays prior to Operation C.A.R.E. (1967-1977) an average of 31 lives were lost.

Considering this, he believes the special patrols of the C.A.R.E. program have had a positive impact.

Twenty two persons were killed during the July 4th holiday period last year. State Police officials caution that this year's toll is provisional and may be revised if delayed deaths occur.

This is the first Operation C.A.R.E. holiday weekend during which the Michigan Army National Guard assisted the State Police. In Operation C.A.R.E./Sky Guard, six national Guard helicopters monitored traffic conditions and conducted air speed timing. The State Police also had one of their helicopters on duty.

Hough reported that troopers in the helicopters, working with patrol cars on the highways, issued 343 traffic citations; spotted seven drunk drivers from the air; assisted at two accidents; and directed patrol units to assist 45 stranded motorists.

Totally, for the weekend, troopers assisted 2,493 motorists, arrested 195 drunk drivers, and issued 8,003 traffic citations.

Again this holiday, 42 volunteer organizations served free refreshments and distributed traffic safety literature in rest areas and roadside parks across the state.

4-H livestock auction is set

The Wayne County 4-H Livestock members would like to invite interested parties to the 6th Annual 4-H Livestock Auction on Thursday, August 12 at 6 p.m.

The auction will feature top grade quality livestock raised and cared for by 4-H members. This is an excellent opportunity for businesses to support today's youth. In turn, the business will receive publicity and ribbons to display.

A person or business can go in with a friend and purchase an animal to share for their freezer. With the cost of today's meat prices, they would be saving money besides helping local youth.

Sign in for buyers is at 5:00 p.m. The auction will take place at the Wayne County Fairgrounds, 10871 Quirk Road, just west of I-94 and Belleville Roads in Belleville. Please call 721-6576 for further information.

Herpes on rise in Belleville area

Genital herpes is dangerous, contagious and spreading fast in the Belleville area and nationally.

During the past several years, the number of reported cases of Herpes Simplex II has risen at an alarming rate. Recently, a significant medical breakthrough in the treatment of this disease was announced.

A new drug called Zovirax, which provides an anti-viral action, is now available. TEL-MED, a free telephone health information service located at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, offers a tape describing the new treatment for Herpes II.

Zovirax should only be used for the first outbreak of genital herpes and not for recurrent infections. Its use shortens the duration of the attack, lessens the pain and reduces the infectious period.

For more information on this subject, call TEL-MED at 668-1551 (Ann Arbor) or 434-6120 (Ypsilanti). Ask the TEL-MED operator to play tape number 970, Herpes. The TEL-MED switchboard is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. TEL-MED is closed weekends.

Congressman Ford wins key education lawsuit

Michigan is in line for $18.4 million more in Federal education funds as a result of a favorable ruling in a lawsuit supported by Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor).

The increased funds stem from a ruling by U.S. District Judge Norma Johnson, which forces the U.S. Department of Education to use 1980 census data in distributing supplemental reading and math program monies under the $2.4 billion Title I federal program. Previously, the agency decided to continue using 1970 data, cutting back Michigan's qualifying student population by 43,023 children.

"This is a great victory for the school children of Michigan," Congressman Ford said of the decision. "I simply could not understand why the Department opted for outdated figures in the first place. When a state like Michigan has children who qualify for special services based on economic or educational deprivation, the Federal government should ensure that they receive them. This decision ensures that this will be the case."

The education funding case was one of two amicus briefs which Congressman Ford has filed against the Administration in recent months. Another, charging that U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) officials had overstepped their rulemaking authority in the Child Care Food Program, also was decided in Congressman Ford's favor by U.S. District Court Judge John Pratt on June 28.

In that case, the USDA instituted unlawful cost saving measures which disrupted meal programs for the children of working parents. Judge Pratt told the agency to rewrite the regulations to reflect his opinion.

Work survey due next week

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of July 19-24, Robert G. McWilliam, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Detroit, announced today.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States.

Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

For example, in May the survey indicated that of the 110.7 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 100.0 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 9.5 percent, about the same as the 9.4 percent in April.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

The way to go

Family and Neighborhood Services in Romulus has received ten seats for its community loan programs from the Automobile Club of Michigan. Gerald Arbour, manager of Auto Club's Ypsilanti and Wayne/Westland offices presented the seats to Peg Glatfelter, Social Worker III, Family and Neighborhood Services. The Auto Club is donating 600 child restraints to community loaner programs statewide. Since April 1, Michigan law has required all infant car passengers under age one to ride in an approved restraint. Youngsters more than one but less than four must be in an approved restraint while in the front seat. Back seat riders between one and four must use either a restraint or a seat belt.

AAA donates child seats to Romulus

Ten child restraint seats were donated recently to Romulus by the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"We are appealing to parents to protect children under age four from possible injury when they are passengers in a motor vehicle," stated Gerald Arbour, manager of Ypsilanti and Wayne/Westland Auto Club offices.

"To help motorists comply with Michigan's new child restraint law, Auto Club is donating 600 child restraints to community loan agencies throughout the state."

The local recipient is the Family and Neighborhood Services. The group will use the seats in its community loan program.

"The donation program is a natural outgrowth of our 50-year commitment to reduce traffic injuries and fatalities in Michigan," Arbour said.

Traffic safety studies show compliance with the new law could reduce deaths 90 percent and injuries 80 percent for youngsters involved in auto accidents. Last year, 26 children died and 3,360 were injured, many seriously while traveling in motor vehicles.

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin commended Auto Club's program as a big step in helping parents protect children under age four. Displays about the new law in 40 Secretary of State offices throughout Michigan include an approved safety seat, donated by Auto Club.

The 1.29-million member organization also has donated 200 seats to the State Police for its loan program. Troopers may issue a citation to violators and loan the driver a child restraint. If proof of purchase or rental of an approved device is submitted to the court prior to a specified court date, the fine will be waived.

Michigan's new law requires all infant car passengers under one year to be restrained. Youngsters more than one but less than four must be in an approved child restraint while in the front seat. Back seat passengers between ages one and four must use either a child restraint or a seat belt.

Belleville shoplifting prevention program earns national attention

Belleville Junior Study Club's Shoplifting Prevention Seminar has earned it a fourth place nationally.

Cathy Horste, Crime Reduction Chairman for the Belleville Junior Study Club, said the club's Shoplifting Prevention Program has won fourth place on the national level in a competition sponsored by the General Federation of Womens Clubs and the National Coalition to Prevent Shoplifting.

The Belleville Study Club Program, initiated in three phases; to educate students in the Van Buren Public Schools, to educate local merchants, and to educate the general public, was recognized as the best such program in the State of Michigan in May, 1982.

Winners from every state across the nation then went on to compete at the national level.

The Belleville Junior's prize winning program was co-sponsored by the Van Buren Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce and Van Buren Township.

Further, the State of Michigan's Federated Women's Clubs were awarded National First place for outstanding Crime Prevention programs throughout the State. More than 500 projects and programs by individual clubs, totaling 20,000 volunteer hours marked the Michigan effort toward safer communities.

Westworld may become a reality

Developer wins key Circuit Court lawsuit

Winners' smile

The sun's shining a bit brighter for Alex Bardy (left) and Matt Locricchio, co-owners of Westworld, a family fun center being developed on the site of the former Hawthorne Valley Country Club. The development had been tied up in a legal battle with the Hawthorne Valley Citizens Committee Inc. until two weeks ago, when Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Irwin Burdick dismissed the lawsuit because no citizen had stepped forward to become plaintiffs in the suit. The group sought to close down the center's games room and prevent the opening of a family-style restaurant. The owners are now awaiting a decision from the State Department on Natural Resources on the construction of new bridges on the 9-hole golf course before their site plan will be presented to the City Council for approval.—ANP photo.

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

The Hawthorne Valley Citizens Committee Inc. has suffered another set back in its attempt to block the development of the former Hawthorne Valley Country Club as an indoor-outdoor family recreation center, known as Westworld.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Irwin Burdick dismissed the lawsuit on June 25 after not one homeowner stepped forward to become a plaintiff or "real party in interest" in the case.

George Cartos, attorney for the owners of Westworld, had requested that homeowners stepped forward to be a part of the lawsuit, since the homeowners group as a corporation does not own property and thus cannot claim damages as a result of the Westworld development.

He speculated that homeowners balked at becoming involved on their own, since as the plaintiff, they would have to pay the court costs of the winning party, if they had lost. Westworld did not ask for court costs following Burdick's ruling, according to Cartos, since the Hawthorne Valley Citizens Committee "doesn't have any money."

The citizens group had sought to enjoin Westworld in opening its family-style restaurant, as well as continuing operation of its 58-game room, claiming that the permits issued allowed for an overintensified use of a nonconforming site.

Westworld has drawn heavy criticism since soon after opening, from adjacent property owners, who voiced fears of a loss of property values, an influx of "undesirables" from neighboring Hines

Park, traffic congestion and noise pollution.

However, Westworld's owners have maintained that the development will not detract from their property values, but rather increase them. They contend that Westworld has done away with "undesirable" clientele that had visited the former country and that fears of the development of a mini-Cedar Point are unfounded.

"We really believe Westworld will be something the city will be proud of," owner Alex Bardy said. "We've only scratched the surface on what we will do to this building once we get final (site plan) approval."

Co-owner Alex Bardy believes Westworld has become a political issue in Westland, and that with the end to the homeowners' lawsuit, the "buck now stops at the City Council," which must give its approval to the site plan before further development can get underway.

The site plan had cleared the city's Planning Commission in April, with several contingencies, including approval by the Wayne County Road Commission and the Department of Natural Resources and the rezoning of a 1.3-acre parcel, zoned residential, to public lands.

The Road Commission has cleared the development, which will include the widening of Merriam Road in front of Westworld, and at its expense, to accommodate traffic, and the rezoning has been recommended for approval by the council.

Bardy added that preliminary indications from the Pontiac office of the Department of Natural Resources is that the project will be approved, however, a retention pond will have to be constructed for drainage and the water that will flow into the Rouge River must be filtered.

Bardy has not been able to place a price tag on how much the delays have added to the cost of the development. Hopes were to have it in full operation by June 1, but the owners are now looking at a spring 1983 completion date, if they garner council approval.

That one year's delay also makes it difficult to determine the loss of revenue for Westworld and the loss of jobs—between 125 to 150—for an age group in dire need of employment.

Bardy is confident, tho, that Westworld will win out over the opposition, that residents will come around when they see the final results. He has begun a positive campaign to make new friends, inviting members of the Westland Chamber of Commerce in to see the facility and offer their opinions.

The big question now for Bardy and Westworld's other owners is when the City Council will address the issue and whether or not it will vote in favor of the development. Bardy has hinted that a no vote could well mean further court cases and further delays, and he is confident that in the end Westworld will win.

Mahalak urges tax relief for small businesses

Tax credits for small businesses would be expanded under a bill approved by the Legislature, according to State Representative Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus).

Mahalak strongly supported the bill, which, he said, "will provide much needed tax relief for small businesses in Michigan, many of whom are struggling to remain solvent during the current recession."

Mahalak said that the bill was amended to take effect in 1984 provided the single business tax revenues increase at least the $25 million the expanded tax credit is expected to cost the state treasury.

Currently small businesses receive a tax credit of as much as 50 percent of their tax liability if their business income falls within certain ranges. The bill would increase the credit to as much as 90 percent of the tax liability.

Mahalak explained that presently the tax credit is allowed if a business' gross receipts are less than $3 million, and the business income is less than $300,000.

Under the bill, he said, beginning in 1984, businesses with gross receipts of less than $6 million and actual income is less than $450,000 would be eligible for the tax credit.

"I would have liked to see this tax relief made immediately available to small businesses," Mahalak said, "but this would have been fiscally irresponsible in light of the current state budget crisis. We have already had to cut this year's budget by hundreds of millions of dollars. It cannot at this time absorb the loss of $25 million."

Propane for vehicles could save thousands

Wayne County vehicles may be converted to propane fuel in an effort to save taxpayers thousands of dollars in gas bills if a 60-day test, recommended by County Commissioner Richard E. Manning, proves favorable.

Manning won support of his proposal Thursday after explaining the procedures to other members of the commission.

According to Manning, a comprehensive report on propane conversion prepared by A.J. Giaier, Project Engineer for the County Board of Auditors, indicates a savings of nearly 30 percent over the use of gasoline.

Citing examples at three county gasoline storage facilities, Wayne County General Hospital, the Drain Commission and the Jail Annex at Eloise, the report indicated a total gasoline cost of $52,995 per year for 52,995 gallons. Cost of propane would have been $34,977, or a savings of $18,018.

Manning's proposal will test three county vehicles — a car, van and light truck for 60 days to determine the feasibility of the program. Cost of conversion for all three will be $2,805. "The trial conversion," Manning explained, "will confirm savings and costs, vehicle operating characteristics, acceleration, miles per gallon, range, ease of starting and preferred location for fuel tanks."

The comprehensive report also included crash tests to determine safety factors and diagrams of installation.

Manning said locations for propane stations have been proposed at the hospital, jail annex, Drain Commission, DPW plant in Wyandotte and at the maintenance yard. Some 59 cars and trucks using these five stations could be converted at an average cost of $900 cash and payback will be from 1.9 years to 4 years.

In a related matter, the Board of Commissioners, Thursday, approved a request from the Downriver Recycling Center to establish a Recycling Center for solid waste disposal at the Trenton Pump Station. The Board of Public Works had recommended the request of the non-profit organization for leasing a portion of the property for four years with the stipulation that the Downriver Recycling Center pay all costs of site preparation and improvements including a suitable fence, and assume all responsibility for permits, insurance, etc.

Study 'net' homestead taxes for senior citizens

Senior citizens may be allowed to pay the net homestead taxes due rather than be forced to pay the full initial amount and then await reimbursement if State legislators heed Wayne County Commissioner William J. Runco's request.

Runco's resolution won the unanimous support of other members of the County Board of Commissioners Thursday.

The resolution "importunes the Michigan Legislature to provide for 'front loading' for the Senior Homestead Tax Credit and to increase the Homestead Tax Credit to an appropriate level to insure that senior citizens are not penalized for being on fixed incomes as a result of rising property taxes."

All-American salads

The United States has been called "the salad bowl of the world" because of the abundant supply of fresh salad ingredients year-round. Salad chefs have used the variety and availability of not only vegetables, but fruits and staples like pasta and rice, to create some of the world's most popular salad recipes.

Americans have grown up with some of these famous side-dishes, like Waldorf, potato, fruit, macaroni, and layered salads, and coleslaw. Now the Kraft Kitchens have taken what might be called these "classics" in American salad-making, and with a few variations, have produced these exciting updated versions of favorite American salads.

BUTTERMILK POTATO SALAD

Creamy buttermilk dressing is a delicious alternative to mayonnaise in this basic potato salad.

- 1 qt. chopped potatoes
- 1 cup celery slices
- 3 crisply cooked bacon slices, crumbled
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 2 tablespoons green onion slices
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup Kraft creamy buttermilk dressing

Combine ingredients; mix lightly. Chill several hours. Add additional dressing before serving, if desired.
4 to 6 servings

COLORFUL VEGETABLE SLAW

This crunchy slaw includes chopped apple and walnuts.

- 1-½ cups chopped apple
- 1 qt. shredded cabbage
- 1 cup chopped cucumber
- 1 cup shredded carrot
- ½ cup green onion slices
- ½ cup chopped walnuts
- ½ cup Kraft coleslaw dressing

Combine ingredients; toss lightly. Chill.
8 to 10 servings

FRUIT FILLED MACARONI SALAD

A delightful combination of fresh fruit and pasta is complemented by a unique dressing.

- 1 8-oz. bottle Kraft oil and vinegar dressing
- 2 tablespoons orange juice
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ½ teaspoon paprika
- 2 cups (7 ozs.) spiral macaroni, cooked, drained
- 1 cup chopped pears
- 1 cup chopped plums
- 1 cup chopped peaches
- 1 cup chopped cantaloupe
- 1 cup grapes

Combine dressing, juice, honey, rind and paprika; mix well. Combine ½ cup dressing mixture, macaroni and fruit; mix lightly. Serve over lettuce wedges, if desired, with remaining dressing.
6 to 8 servings

potpourri

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

We wander through the phraseology of life spitting out euphemisms like seeds from a watermelon, never giving thought to what expression we're voicing — merely letting it roll off our tongue as easily as "hello", "how are 'ya'", "so long."

Just recently I found myself having a "feeling-sorry-for-poor-little-me" day and was pretty down in the dumps. As soon as I gave that mental description to my mood, I stopped to think, "What an odd thing to say."

Being somewhat more aware of "phrases" since I discovered the Morris Dictionary of Word and Phrase Origins, it was only moments 'til I was looking up its history. That action in itself detoured me from my down-in-the-mouth temperament. (Aha! There's another one!) "Dump", it is thought, derives from the Dutch word "domp" meaning haze or dullness. During the Elizabethan period a dump was also any kind of slow, mournful song or dance.

In The Taming of the Shrew, Katherine, after her first lively quarrel with Petruchio, is asked by her father, "Why, how now, daughter! In your dumps?" So, even in Shakespeare's time, in the dumps meant "out of spirits."

In direct contrast to DITD is "on cloud nine" — that unreachable spot we've soared to all too seldom — that spot BG found himself on when "his" little boy joined the family. That expression, describing a feeling of euphoric exaltation and joy, is based on actual terminology used by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Clouds are divided into classes and each class is divided into nine types. Cloud nine is the cumulonimbus formation you often see building up in the sky on a hot summer afternoon. It may reach 30,000 to 40,000 feet. So — if one is up on cloud nine, one is high indeed. Funny that term is never associated with intoxication; perhaps "higher 'n a kite" takes care of that condition. (And that term's self-explanatory, wouldn't you agree?)

THE SIGN OF THE CRAB

Heading our list of cancer notables for this week is Yul Brynner who was delivered in Sakhalin, Japan 62 years ago last Sunday, July 11. That's also the birthday of Tab Hunter who was 51 and the 215th anniversary of the birth of John Quincy Adams, our sixth president. "Mr. TV" himself, Milton Berle, chalked up 74 years on the big screen of life July 12th while Van Cliburn made it 48; Bill Cosby, 45; and Cheryl Ladd, 31.

Dave Garroway (the man with the owl glasses) celebrated Number 69 yesterday and today, the 14th, the birthday song is being sung to former President Gerald R. Ford (somewhere on a golf course, no doubt.) July 14th also belongs to comedian Terry (Gaptooth) Thomas, who's 71; Dale Robertson, who's 59; Knoxville-born Polly Bergen, who's 52; and Ingmar Bergman, who's 64.

Taking bows tomorrow will be the trio of Linda Ronstadt, Jan-Michael Vincent and Patrick Wayne who'll celebrate with 36, 38 and 43 candles, respectively.

Two talented ladies, who gained prominence in another era of films, Ginger Rogers and Barbara Stanwyck, share a mutual natal date and will mark their 71st and 75th respective birthdays on the 16th.

Summing it up for another week on the 17th are tough guy James (you rat, you) Cagney, who'll be a respectable 83 years of age and the man who taught us that "Kids Say the Darndest Things", Art Linkletter, will round 'em off at 70. Funny lady Phyllis Diller, who put Lima, Ohio on the map, will have 65 years to look back on; Diahann Carroll, a Vincennes, Ind. baby, will be 47; Lucie Arnaz will turn 31 and Don Sutherland, 48.

As to their traits and personalities, here's what the people-in-the-know have to say about the Cancer-born. They are people of many moods with feelings so subjective that they fear the mailman has stopped liking them if they find the mailbox empty. Regardless of the matter at hand, their emotions make them suspicious, supersensitive and very moody.

One of the greatest offenses that can be committed against Cancer is that of omission. To NOT be invited someplace by someone close whom they've trusted is a sin of the worst category. They live in anguish at the idea their presence has been usurped.

Secretiveness is another trait of Cancer and they cringe at the thought of someone learning their "secrets." Unfortunately, almost everything in their life is a secret and they probably fib about their favorite food, how much they drink, how great their sex life is and where they've been or where they might be going.

The Cancer is a highly emotional, impressionable, sensitive and often psychic individual with an affable, outgoing, good-natured and often generous nature. They tend, however, to believe gossip (hearsay) and take innuendo to heart.

They make excellent friends as long as those people think and act as they do and agree with their ideas. They will drop a years-long relationship with a person at the mere hint that he/she is not on the same wave length. If one is fortunate enough to KEEP a Cancer friendship, however, it can be a rewarding and lasting one.

IMPOSSIBLE, MY FOOT!

If you culinary artists out there have not as yet tried any of the "impossible" pies which Bisquick had the ingenuity to create, you're missing some of the easiest baking this side of TV dinners.

The latest issue of Better Homes and Gardens has a little tear-out cookbook chockful of impossibilities including the mouth-watering Impossible Buttermilk Pie which I gave a try last week. Just one suggestion — cut down on the sugar; I did, but not enough since it was a bit too sweet. I'd use a generous cupful next time; but do your own thing. 'Twas a super way to use up buttermilk which a recent birthday cake required.

The Impossible Lasagna Pie (run in "potpourri" some time ago) is another tried-and-true entree which will win you raves galore (and it's so EASY). I hear the Impossible Taco Pie is as delicious as its picture is pretty and when we're more than two, it'll get the green light. Let me know about the ones you try, how you like 'em and if they need any adjustments, okay?

KITCHEN AIDES

A FEW WORTHWHILE TIPS which could come in handy and, again, save on those food bills.

- Soaking beef liver in milk or a marinade for half an hour or so before cooking can lend it the tenderness of calf's liver.
- A substitute for coffee cream can be created by combining three quarters cup of milk with three tablespoons of butter.
- Don't throw away club soda when it loses its fizz; its chemicals can add vigor and color to house plants.
- Rubbing Worcestershire sauce or ketchup over a copper pot will make the tarnish disappear faster.
- Apples keep longer if, when stored, they don't touch one another.
- Don't discard extra batter from waffles, French toast or pancakes. Cook them as usual, freeze and when wanted, just pop into a toaster to reheat.
- Avocados ripen quickly when put in a brown paper bag and set in a warm place.
- Mashed banana blended with peanut butter and thinned with a little mayonnaise makes a delicious sandwich.

THE BOTTOM LINE: You can meet friends everywhere, but you cannot meet enemies anywhere — you have to make them.

Tinsley-Short vows read at St. John's Church

In an afternoon ceremony June 5 at St. John's Catholic Church in Ypsilanti, Pamela Short of Ypsilanti became the bride of Terry Tinsley of Belleville. Double ring vows were repeated before The Rev. David Harvey and some 200 assembled guests.

Music for the wedding was played by Mary Jo Spetzer and sung by Steve Anderson who accompanied himself on the guitar.

Parents of the young couple, who spent a week-long honeymoon at Copper Harbour in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, are William J. Short of Ypsilanti, Pauline Kramer Short of Canada and John Tinsley of Wixom and Lois Pinson of Belleville.

For her wedding day, the bride chose to wear her mother's wedding dress of off-white satin. The gown, circa 1942, featured a V-neckline, long, tapered sleeves puffed at the shoulder and a cathedral train, all embellished with lace and seed pearling.

Completing her bridal finery were a cathedral-length veil trimmed in lace and a presentation bouquet of white carnations and a dozen white roses accented with two pink roses and baby's breath.

As her sister's honor attendant, Suzanne Short zum Felde of Wauseon, O. donned a blue satin gown and carried a basket of blue and pink silk flowers.

Bridesmaids in identical ensembles were Theresa Spletzer, sister-in-law of the bride; Micki McLaughlin, sister of the bridegroom; Kelly Moneymaker, his cousin; and Kristi zum Felde, niece of the bride.

Christopher Short, 3½-year-old nephew of the bride, was ringbearer and 4-year-old Bobbi Jo McLaughlin, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

Best man was Lance Brady of Belleville and ushers were Craig Lee, and Thomas and Steven Short, brothers of the bride.

MR. AND MRS. TERRY TINSLEY

A reception for 300 guests followed at the Romulus Progressive Club.

An Ypsilanti High School graduate, the bride is now employed at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. Her husband, a Belleville High School alumnus, works for M&B Contractors in Novi.

The rehearsal party, held at Little Caesar's in Belleville, was hosted by the Carl Pinsons and the John Tinsleys.

New on the scene

Edward Thomas Webber III

"It's a boy!" was the announcement going out to relatives and friends of Eddie and Lori Webber of Irving, Tex. on June 23 — the day they welcomed their first child, Edward Thomas Webber III.

Putting in his appearance at 11:27 a.m. at Medical City in Dallas, Texas, the new heir weighed 8 lbs. - 9½ ozs. and measured 22 inches.

His proud grandparents, all of Belleville, are the Bob Millers of Biggs Street and the Edward Webbers of Sherwood Road. Young Edward's mother and dad are 1980 graduates of Belleville and Lincoln High Schools, respectively.

Timothy Richard Johnson

The birth of their second son, Timothy Richard, is being announced by Richard and Cynthia Johnson of 17417 Sully Dr., Belleville. The young man bowed in at 3:42 a.m. July 3 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, weighed 6 lbs. - 12½ ozs. and measured 19½ inches.

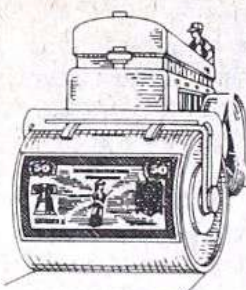

He is the new brother of 6-year-old Fredrich Thomas Johnson and the new grandson of the Harold Blossoms of Belleville; Joyce Schlehuber of Westland and Emil Johnson of Livonia. Great-grandparent honors go to Hilda Johnson of Westland and Ania Pritchard of Elk Park, N.C.

Video games: Today's pool halls

Few local business ventures can prompt as much controversy these days as video arcades.

While Pac Man, Space Invaders and various other games seem harmless enough, the growing video game phenomenon has embroiled local city officials, businessmen and residents in a continuing debate.

For some, the video arcade rates as the 1980's pool hall, a den of less than admirable characteristics. Allow your youngster to visit the local arcade and face the consequences, or so some believe.

Many have pressured local city councils and township boards to attempt to curtail the number of video games allowed in their community. Despite such action, not only has the arcade business expanded in western Wayne County, but local supermarkets, bowling establishments and nearly every kind of business imaginable has gotten into the act.

And for a simple reason. Video games attract customers and customers spend money. It's called free enterprise.

Al long as establishments with such games meet the standard business and building code statutes, their existence is guaranteed by law. To attempt to legislate against the very right of such businesses to exist is a waste of time of energy.

Such time and energy would be better spent in formulating a system of communication between city officials and the owners of businesses that feature video games.

Do the arcades provide enough supervision? Do local police and businessmen have a plan to thwart the actions of any undesirable elements that may try to disrupt activities inside or outside the arcades? Are age restrictions, where applicable, properly enforced? Are those who violate the laws dealt with promptly and within the utmost limits of the law?

These are the kinds of questions that should be answered, possibly by a local advisory panel representing those concerned. Instead of dismissing the arcade craze as the enemy of law abiding citizenry, everyone should be working to improve conditions just as they would for any business.

To brand all arcades as undesirable is not only a naive generalization, it is a totally unfair indictment of the entire video game industry. For the fact of the matter remains — many video arcades and businesses with video games as a secondary source of revenue are an asset to their community.

They provide what has obviously become a very enjoyable pastime for young and old alike. And many experience little if any of the problems so often linked to arcades.

Yes, there have been a number of drug related arrests near some arcades. Yes, some arcades and business owners have not been able to stop the activities of unruly minors. And yes, some communities have approved licenses for video games with much reluctance.

The video game phenomenon continues to flourish, nevertheless. Local city officials must recognize the fact that these business establishments can be a safe place for leisure fun and games. If they're not, it's the responsibility of these officials and the business owners to work together to insure such safety.

Bickering and insinuations are counter productive. Cooperation between business and government will, we feel, lead to a better understanding of the video arcade business.

Recent recall victim offers some advice

As a recent victim of a recall attempt in Huron Township, I'd like to address the citizens of Van Buren Township as they face a recall election on August 10th.

You, the voters of Van Buren Township, are being used by a small group of discontented persons who are the supporters of the losers in the last township election.

These "recall perpetrators" do not have the best interest of Van Buren Township in mind as they begin their mud slinging campaigns. They have distorted the facts and have told many, many outright lies! I have heard some of the terrible things that they have been saying about members of your township board and I would not even repeat them!

Your Township Board was elected less than two years ago by the majority of those voters who care about your Township. These people are your friends and neighbors who are dedicated to Van Buren Township and its people. Yes, they have made a mistake or two along the way — who hasn't? Only those who sit back and do nothing except judge the actions of others, claim to be perfect and always know what would have been the right decision — after the fact!

As I interpret the reasons for the recall of your township board, it is over some problems within the police department. Faced with the loss of the Sheriff's Road Patrol, all township boards in Wayne County had to make some quick decisions on how to provide a full time service to their community without the proper funds, personnel or equipment.

Interim solutions to problems had to be made in a hurry. Final solutions to these problems take time, money, thought and study. Your Township Board has now solved these problems in the correct way.

As individual members, I have known and worked with your Supervisor and Clerk over the past 10 years and I believe that they are two very honest, dedicated public officials.

The people of Van Buren Township have continuously elected Pat Cullin to serve them for more than ten years — first as a Trustee, then as Clerk and as Supervisor for the past six years. Do you really believe that all of a sudden she has turned into the type of person that these few people are trying to make her out to be? I don't believe it for one minute!

Doreen Craven has been your township Clerk since 1976 — why would she be so different today from the first time that you elected her? I deal with Doreen on a very close basis and have found her to be one of the most honest, sincere and qualified clerks in Wayne County.

I served as her sponsor to become a Certified Municipal Clerk — a very honorable title which is no small task to accomplish!

I don't know all of the other members of your Township Board as well as I know these two, but in my dealings with them, I have found them to be knowledgeable of their positions and they really seem to have your best interest at heart.

The voters and taxpayers of Van Buren Township should give some consideration to what's going to happen to Van Buren Township if you recall these five members of the Board. Do you realize that there will be no one to conduct the daily business of the Township — no one to sign payroll checks for the employees, no one to direct the employees on a daily basis — until the Governor appoints an interim board. And do you realize that the interim Board appointed by the Governor answers to no one? How do you know who they will be and why would they seek this appointment?

What ulterior motive could these people have in becoming involved in this matter? So you know that YOU will have to pay for the elections to replace your Board? Do you know how much it costs to conduct a special election?

About $10,000. Is this not a gross waste of YOUR money? YOU elected a Township Board for a four year term (1980-84) and now the losing candidates are trying to over turn YOUR decision. THEY are spending YOUR money to overthrow your government. They are not the silent majority — they are the vocal minority who thrive on creating problems for others — only YOU can stop them! GO TO THE POLLS ON AUGUST 10th — DO YOURSELF A FAVOR — VOTE "NO" ON THE RECALL.

Judge for yourself

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

There is a saying in the profession that when attorneys have nothing more to offer, they become judges.

That's so they can catch up on their sleep.

And that's very strange, because now before us comes a very articulate spokesman of his profession and a man who has a lot more to offer his profession than becoming a judge — the learned scholar is none other than Martin "Marty" Baum.

He quickly puts a reporter on the defensive after the nosy one asks: "Which district will you be running in?"

Baum replies — "There are no districts when you run for Circuit Court."

Baum wants — covets — the Circuit Court bench and he is a candidate.

Before we take the positive, let's fill you in on this young (born Sept. 16, 1942 in Detroit) and scholarly man. Education consists of Oak Park High School, University of Michigan, where he was awarded a Bachelor of Arts in economics in 1964 and a law degree from U of M Law School, where he was the founding member of the Law School's Legal Aid Society and was instrumental in the successful implementation of the Legal Aid program on a Law School level.

And that — the above noted — must also be the longest paragraph I've ever knocked out in the 22 years I've been knocking out stories.

But seriously, why does Baum want to be a Circuit Court judge?

"In 15 years as an attorney, I've proved that I'm no stranger to hard work," Baum replied. "I've handled every type of case that comes to circuit court — major crimes, labor law, school cases, divorce and major business cases."

"To be a good judge, to develop good judgment, you've got to be a good lawyer first. And I've done that. Done my homework. I've done the work, so I can do the job as a Wayne County Circuit Judge."

Baum will have no problem, in our opinion, with "name recognition". He is a distant cousin to Victor Baum, who has served on the bench for the past decade.

A member of the American Bar Association, the Detroit Bar and a host of other legal associations, Baum is married to Marcia, and they have two children, Monica, 15, and Eric, 10.

"Every court case has two sides," stresses Baum, "prosecution and defense, plaintiff and defendant. But there ought to be a third side, the community's side. Too many judges act like referees — they decide, guilty or not guilty, and quit there."

"But every judge should do more. I'll look at the criminal, not just the crime — because too many people accused of crime have been in court before, and will be again. Prison or no prison, a drug addict has got to kick the habit, a person without skills has got to learn to read and write — or they'll be back in trouble again."

Baum will never stop. Look for him on the Circuit Court bench.

Another viewpoint

A 1982 gold rush---Wayne County style

The wisdom of our state legislators often comes into question with the application of laws they mandate that must be applied to local communities through the county government.

Take for instance Public Acts 641 which briefly states each county must solve its own solid waste disposal problems.

Basically this is a good proposal. If you create a problem — then solve it. We all agree with the principle. It's the Wayne County solution to the problem that I sincerely question as to its effect on local people.

This public act requires each county to have a five (5) year supply of solid waste disposal and Wayne County has an existing thirteen (13) year supply. It also requires the county to approve a plan showing the locations of those sanitary landfills, both existing and proposed. The county approach to this state law brings on the gold rush and many questions to mind.

Why are so many applications for new sites being submitted by landfill operators at this time and receiving a quick nod from our County Health Department?

Why has it taken so long to complete this plan? Does the slow shuffle of county feet allow the Department of Natural Resources to approve more construction permits?

Wouldn't a county approach to recycling refuse extend an existing thirteen (13) year supply of refuse disposal and create less need for new sites?

What would it take for a landfill operator to change a proposed sanitary landfill to a hazardous waste landfill at some future date?

If total D.N.R. approval rests on specific site requirements as to drainage site permeability etc., i.e., who cares about local placement of a landfill and its impact on an individual community's health and welfare?

Is the D.N.R. requirement for an eight (8) foot berm (mound of dirt) surrounding the landfill enough to protect surrounding property owners' land values?

The Wayne County Board that hopes to protect surrounding property owners with the passage of county ordinance regulating site requirements seems to be stuck in the trash. Could it be that ordinance will be written by landfill operators?

Is there gold in them thar hills of trash? Prudence would indicate that it is not the intent of Public Acts 641 to create a county gold rush at the expense of local communities.

Aren't these landfill applications simply a case of people riding the train without buying a ticket and even before the tickets are ever sold.

As a Democratic candidate for County Commissioner in the 11th District I can only hope that this issue becomes increasingly hotter — too hot for the existing commissioners to handle. After November we may be able to take a fresh look at county government.

Looking for a change? Dine in a grain mill

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

Diners who are a bit tired of those sterile, urban restaurant settings will find the Grain Mill Crossing in Plymouth a welcomed change of pace.

Owners Howard Lawrence and Ron Hill have transformed the historic grain mill, located at 305 North Main, into a family-style restaurant featuring a variety of homemade specialties.

They have not tampered, however, with the historical significance of this 115-year-old building, which explains the presence of overhead grain bin, the wooden posts and the gears and belts once used in the grain production.

"The last time this building was open they sold lumber, shingles and nails," explained Lawrence. "Years before that it was a fish and frog spearing factory. We opened it as a restaurant about eight weeks ago."

In a short time the Grain Mill Crossing has earned a reputation for homemade meals at reasonable prices. Dinner favorites include stuffed cabbage ($4.70), meat loaf ($4.95), lasagna ($4.95) and knock-worst and German potato salad ($4.60). These and other entrees come with a choice of vegetable, potato, cup of soup or juice, salad bar, bread and butter.

Rounding out the dinner menu are a number of steaks and chops, seafood offerings and pasta plates. Daily specials, such as the Friday night fish favorite, have proven popular as well.

"We prepare just about everything from scratch," said Lawrence, who met his business partner at a culinary arts class at Henry Ford Community College. "The vegetables are fresh and we continually are adding things to the salad bar. Our bread and all the desserts are freshly baked too."

Among the desserts are a keylime pie (a tasty combination of lime, meringue and graham cracker crust), strawberry cheese cake, blueberry pie and other assorted delicacies. Plans call for the opening of a bakery in the restaurant that would feature bread, desserts and even wedding cakes.

The Grain Mill Crossing is open from 6 a.m. until 9 p.m. weekdays and from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Breakfast is served until 11:30 a.m. and the selections are offered with both adults and children in mind. Some of the more eye catching entrees include the Hungry Man Meal (three eggs, two sausages, two pieces of bacon, ham, potatoes, toast and jelly for $3.10); the Sunriser (grilled English muffin, ham, two poached eggs, melted American cheese for $2.75), and the Traveler's Special (two eggs, two pancakes and two sausages for $2.25).

A diversified sandwich and salad section completes the menu — and with quite a touch. House specialty sandwiches are priced at $2.95 and range from pastrami, corned beef and roast beef to the club, the reuben, ham and Italian sausage.

Crab meat, Julienne and tuna salad plates are available in addition to the conventional salad bar and fruit plates.

"Eventually we'd like to open up the upstairs area for banquets and shops," revealed Lawrence, a Wayne resident. "Right now we have a capacity of 68 (on the first floor)."

The Grain Mill Crossing. This is quickly becoming one of Plymouth's unique family restaurants.

Ron Hill (left) and Howard Lawrence, owners of the Grain Mill Crossing in Plymouth, stand in front of their remodeled restaurant at 305 North Main. The 115-year-old grain mill facility rates as one of the city's landmarks and has been converted into a family-style restaurant. Photo by Lothar Konietzko.

Vacation in Michigan

One-day trips only require imagination and stamina

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

The big tourism push is on in the state, with the slogan of "Say Yes to Michigan" touting the beauty and variety of vacationing in the Water Wonderland.

However, saying yes to Michigan need not entail packing your bags and traveling to the four corners of the state for a week of summertime fun. That can be found closer to home, where a week's worth of enjoyment can be crammed into one-day trips throughout the Detroit metropolitan area. The only limitation on planning such trips is your imagination... and stamina.

Here's a sampling of vacationing at home, but away from home:

DAY 1 — Put on your best Dr. Dolittle appearance and head off to Pleasant Ridge for a day at the Detroit Zoological Park. Pack a picnic lunch and dine in the picnic grove, where entertainment is provided by "Moochers Inc.," a pack of squirrels and chipmunks bent on not missing one handout.

DAY 2 — Relax on the beach of Kensington Metropark in Milford, where the youngsters can build sandcastles and the more adept swimmers can rent sailboats for a day in the sun. Lower Huron Metropark in Belleville offers swimming in an Olympic-sized swimming pool, while golfers can tee off at its nine-hole golf course. Both parks offer picnic groves and play areas.

DAY 3 — Spend a quiet day in Ann Arbor, walking the Diad of the University of Michigan and sharing in the wonders on display in its Natural History Museum. Pack a lunch and stop on the way back at the university's botanical gardens, for an afternoon with Mother Nature.

DAY 4 — Now that you're rested, pack a lunch and head for the Detroit waterfront and the Bob-Lo boats for a day at the amusement park. Rides to draw laughter and screams from young and old alike await visitors, and one admission price covers all rides.

DAY 5 — Head north to Oakland County, for a visit at Meadowbrook Hall, the stately former Dodge mansion. From there head for Oxford and a visit at the Upland Hills Ecological Awareness Center, a combined educational-recreational facility where urban people can experience farm life.

DAY 6 — It's back to Detroit for a tour of the downtown environs. Get up early and take in the activities at Eastern Market. Stop for breakfast in the Gratiot Central Market, then head over to the waterfront for a tour of the Mariner's Church and Renaissance Center. For lunch grab a Coney at the famous Lafayette Coney Island on the edge of Kennedy Square, then head over to Stroh's Brewery for one of its public tours.

DAY 7 — Rise and shine, this is the last day of your vacation, and its off to Detroit one last time for an afternoon with history at the Detroit Historical Museum and time with the masters on display at the Detroit Institute of Arts. Cap off your vacation with a stop at the waterfront for the weekend ethnic festival and toast to an enjoyable vacation as the sun sets on the Detroit River... and your vacation.

As you can see the sky's the limit on vacationing at home, but away from home. The nice part of such a vacation is that you never have to worry about the accommodations, only how to fit everything in that there is to do in the metropolitan area.

Let's see... if I call in sick on Day 8, we could take in Windsor and save 20 percent on each dollar, grab a baseball game and even squeeze in a trip to Belle Isle. Maybe I should call in sick for Day 9...

Canton parade entries sought

Participants are being sought for the second Canton Country Festival parade, to be held at 11 a.m. August 7.

To date more than 80 individuals and groups have signed up as participants in the parade, which will feature a float judging contest. Awards will be given to float entries in several categories and will be displayed in Griffin Park following the parade.

"In the Good Old Summertime" is the parade theme and those wishing to participate should call 981-2088 by July 15.

The parade route will consist of the following course: Saltz Road west to Canton Center Road; (viewing area) Canton Center Road north to Ford Road; Ford Road east to Sheldon Road, and Sheldon Road south to Saltz Road.

Nature tour slated

"See Nature by Bike," covering 5 miles in 1½ hours, will be held at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near Milford-Brighton on Sunday, July 18, at 9 a.m.

This program is free, however, advance registration is required. For information or registration, contact the Nature Center at Kensington Metropark at 685-1561 (Milford).

A vehicle entry permit is required.

One way to spend a day of your vacation is a trip to Greenfield Village in Dearborn. Special events and historic exhibits have made Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum the most visited indoor-outdoor museum in North America. Here a horse-drawn carriage is shown on a tour near the Eagle Tavern, which features 1850's style food and atmosphere.

Store any extra lures in empty coffee can for safest results

By BOB BREWSTER
Special to Playtime

It's ironic that a modern sport fisherman will outfit himself with an efficient boat, motor and accessories, yet can't find a place to store his extra lures except underfoot.

Bass fishermen, for example, are notorious for having several rods rigged at one time. Extra lures, usually half a dozen or more, are usually tossed onto the deck or floor of the boat where they quickly become entangled with jackets, boat mooring lines, and other gear.

While it's handy, this method of lure storage is hazardous because you could step on one and impale your foot on a hook.

One solution to this problem is an empty three-pound coffee can.

Fishing experts learned the trick from an inventive angler who has been making lure holders for fishing buddies. There are two types, each easy to make at home.

Dull sharp edges on the lip of the can using a ball-peen hammer. For bass boats, measure the diameter of the post supporting the fishing seat and buy a hose clamp that will fit around the post. A car radiator hose clamp is fine.

Make two slits in one side of the can an inch apart and halfway between top and bottom. Slip the clamp end through these and attach the can to the seat post. Extra lures are hung on the rim of the can where they're out of the way and safe from entanglement.

A second method is to mount the can in the center of a foot-square pine board using two flat-headed wood screws. The board provides a base to prevent the can from tipping over. Glue carpet to the bottom to deaden sound.

Championship Golf deadline is near Amateur golfers in the Associated Newspapers' circulation area got the message and within a span of eight days more than 50 entries have been received for the 1982 City Championship Golf Tournament.

The tournament will be staged two days, on Saturday and Sunday, July 24 and 25 at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton Township.

"It didn't surprise me a bit to see these entries come in as they did,"

said Bill Hawley, tournament manager. "This is one of the golf tournaments most of the guys in the area wait for. And, as in the past, we can only accept the first 100 entries because the golf course must service its regular members, so please get in your entry as soon as possible."

The tournament is open to the residents of Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Canton, Garden City and Romulus who will be competing for separate city championships for the respective communities. The championships are held simultaneously and competitors play 18 holes on Saturday, then come back for the finals on Sunday.

The tournament is also set up to determine the top five golfers from each of the five competing cities who will be eligible to advance to the state Michigan Parks and Recreation championships which will be conducted later this year.

However, only bona fide residents of the cities are eligible to compete at state.

Trophies will be awarded to the first, second, and third place finishers in each of the flights. In case of a tie for any of the trophy berths, a "sudden death" playoff will be held.

Also, the medalist (low scorer) for the entire tournament will be awarded a special first place trophy. A trophy will also go to the over-all winner of the Wayne championship flight, a trophy in memory of Patrolman Leonard Anderson, the first patrolman to lose his life on duty in Wayne.

In order to enter, please complete the entry blank on this page and send it and $22 to cover the green's fee and costs of trophies. (Please do not send cash). Make checks payable to Bill Hawley, tournament manager.

The entry form is also available at the Associated Newspapers' offices, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne. Either drop off or mail the registration blank and check at the offices or mail them. There will be no refunds after the first round of competitions.

For further information, please contact Tom Mooradian, 729-4000.

Wayne Class A

Watch out for Jake's

While Schewe's Little Bill's and Greg's Emergency Room are slugging it out to see who'll occupy first place, Jake's Lounge is slowly creeping up to the top of the Wayne men's Class A standings.

Both Schewe's and Greg's are deadlocked, each with 10-3 records, but Jake's surprised Schewe's 6-5 and came within a game of catching the pacesetters.

Prep grid stars meet in benefit

Michigan's second annual football game between high school stars of eastern and western Michigan will be played at Spartan Stadium in East Lansing on August 7th, according to Tom Fagan, president of the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association, (M.H.S.F.C.A.). Game time will be at 1:30 p.m.

Proceeds from ticket sales will benefit the Michigan Ronald McDonald House (tm) and a portion will go into the MHSFCA scholarship fund. Michigan McDonald's owner/operator's are supporting the game by giving coupons worth $1 discount on ticket prices.

The executive board of the coaches association representing coaches state-wide and the coaches for the two squads select 80 players from a list of 300 graduated seniors nominated by their high school coaches. Coaches for the two squads are chosen by the MHSFCA Board of Directors. Twelve coaches are chosen, six for the west squad and six for the east squad. The coach who receives the most votes is head coach.

The Michigan Ronald McDonald House, located in Detroit is a "home away from home" for use by families whose children are being treated for serious illnesses at nearby hospitals. Fifteen hundred families have taken advantage of the low-cost housing rates since its doors opened in late 1979.

McDonald's customers throughout Michigan can get their free dollar-off coupons for game tickets at their local McDonald's.

Good cause

Ronald McDonald, center, with Jennifer and Stephanie Hanson, explains that the proceeds from the 2nd Annual Michigan High School East West All Star Football Game will benefit the Michigan Ronald McDonald House (tm). Representing the 267 Michigan McDonald's Restaurants supporting the game is Al Felthauer, far left, president of the Michigan McDonald's Owner/Operator Association, and two members of the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association, (M.H.S.F.C.A.), who are sponsoring the game, right, Tom Fagan, president, M.H.S.F.C.A., and Don Lessner, secretary-treasurer M.H.S.F.C.A.

The last will be first

The Orioles made believers out of the Van Buren Baseball Association's senior League teams as the last place team in 1981 turned right around and posted an 18-2 over-all record to capture the 1982 league championship. The Orioles put together an incredible 15-game winning streak in the stretch, shipping the Pirates in the finale, 8-4 for the crown. Members of

Tastee Freez rolls

Champs stay 'hot'

Defending champ, Tastee Freez, buried Reighard International 22-2 to continue its torrid pace in the Wayne Women's Class A softball title race.

Getting homers from Lori Neuman, Kim Schwartz and two hits each from Mary Brewis and Kim Santos, the champs padded their over-all record to 8-1 on the season, pulling away from Mr. Steak which is 6-3 on the year.

Winner Pat Bledsoe pitched a four-hitter, but one of those was a homer by Patty R.

Greg's Emergency erupted for seven runs in the first inning en route to a lopsided 15-5 victory over Reighard's. Pam Misenrer turned in with three hits, including a triple for the winners.

Extra Point exploded for seven runs in the top of the sixth to break open a close game and hand Wayne Bank an 8-2 setback. Losing pitcher Jean Hamilton had her problems with Suzy Richardson and May Kehrer who each had two singles.

Richardson, the winning pitcher, gave up an RBI single to Linda Jacks who accounted for two of her team's seven hits.

In the meantime, over in the men's Class C league, the Brick Shirthouse continued to set the pace as the league-leader scored four times in the bottom of the sixth to pull out a 5-3 win over the Wayne Jaycees.

The league-leaders, who are 9-1 on the season, received two key hits from Mike Sheller.

Fourth-place Northside erupted for six runs in the first inning and blanked Bratcher's 13-0 as Elmer Daniles laced two singles, a homer and accounted for two RBIs for the winners. Teammate Charles Thornton had a single and double.

Red Legs held on to its second place spot with a narrow 11-10 victory over the Road Runners. Trailing most of the game, the winners scored five runs in the fifth to tie the game. Peter Martin contributed three singles while Tom Sipps had a single and triple and Bruce Row, Loren Hellman and Charlie Cobb each had two hits for the winners.

Roadrunners' hitting attack was paced by Russ Barnett who drove in two runs with a triple and single.

With Jim Galbraith collected three hits and Jeff Ferguson and Bill Spudin splitting four singles, the Wheels coasted past Lauraines 8-2 in a Class B game. Mike Allen drilled two singles for the losers.

Mitch's Party Store stayed in step with league-leader, Tom's Tavern, as Mitch's emerged a 7-5 winner over the Wheels. Pat Mullroy, the winning pitcher, gave up nine hits, two each to Mike Schroerer and Jeff Ferguson.

Loser Ron Swan had his problems with John Bullard and Don Parller who each had three hits, including a triple apiece. Mullroy helped his cause with a three hits.

Mitch's rallied for two runs in the top of the seventh to burn Drake's Lounge 7-6 in a well-fought battle. Jeff Pizzuti and Dave Turegon helped in Drake's demise with three and two hits, respectively, while the losers got three hits, including a double from Dave Ross. Greg Stano, John Curdom and Rich Porter turned in with two hits each.

Drake's scored six runs in the opening inning then blew a 11-10 decision to a rallying Eloise Inn which picked up its fifth win in 12 starts. Eloise's Bruce Roth wielded a "hot bat" as he slashed a pair of triples and a single, driving in three runs. Tony Piscopink had two singles.

Drake's collected three hits apiece from Joe Vergona, Jim Vergona and Greg Stano.

Too close to call

'A' title goes down to wire

It's still too close to call in Romulus' Class A Women's Softball League.

Both Puffer Red Records and Total Petroleum turned in exceptional performances to remain neck-and-neck in the race or the league title.

Puffer's dissipated F.X. Coughlin 21-0 behind Sandy Holiday's two-hit pitching effort to stay on top, but only barely with a 9-3 record. Total buried Morgan Collision 16-1, and is 8-3 on the year.

Holiday got ample hitting support from Theresa Gibson who hammered a pair of triples in her three hits for the day. Maria Franklin collected four hits, including a triple and Priscilla Gray bagged out three off of loser Cheryl Michelin.

Nancy Felson and Sue Evitts accounted for the loser's safeties.

Total scored four times in the first, added three more in the second, then went on to put five and four runs on the board in the next two innings in a game called because of the 'mercy rule.'

Winning pitcher Diana Kampsen served up six hits, three of which went to Donna Johnson who had a single, triple and double and scored the only run. Tammy Groves and Donna Merritt latched on to a single each.

Debbie Mooman was charged with the loss. She gave up two RBIs each to Debbie Ojibway who tripled and run-scoring hits to Mary Day and Pat Hoppe. Total however had to fight off a pesky F. X. Coughlin which grabbed a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the first and kept the outcome of the game in doubt right up to the end. Total scored one run in the first, tied it up at 2-2 in the second inning, then broke loose for a 4-3 lead in the third and scored an insurance run in the sixth.

Diane Kampsen, who picked up the win, scattered five hits, serving up a triple to Tammy Meadows, a double to Nancy Felson and a run-scoring single to Vickie Brainers.

The loser, Michelin, had her problems with Sheri Hale, who led the winners with a pair of run-scoring singles. Sue Fitzpatrick and Mary Day also checked in with decisive hits for the winners.

Ann Hadyniak turned in a four-hit pitching gem as Progressive Club blanked Morgan's 9-0 for its sixth win in 11 outings. Debbie Richardson, who laced a single, Sheri Lewis, with a pair of hits, and Jan Eberline, who also singled, accounted for all of Morgan's hits.

Debbie Mooman, who digested the defeat, was tagged for three hits, including a double and two RBIs, by Cindy Green, while Sharon Howie doubled and Sharon Aung had a run-scoring hit for the winners.

Progressive club exploded for five runs in the fifth inning to hand Morgan's a 7-2 setback behind Debbie McBride's five-hit pitching performance. McBride delivered two hits each to Sheri Richardson and Vickie Gross, while Sheri Lewis had a single.

Loser Mooman served up three hits and a pair of RBIs to Cindy Griffin and two hits to Sharon Hadyniak while Sharon Howie also had a hit.

In one of the best defensive games of the current campaign, Total Petroleum shut out Coughlin's 1-0 as Mary Day turned in with a three-hitter. The Total pitcher helped her cause with a double, while Bratcher and Gail Miami each had hits off of loser Faye Elwick who was tagged for only five safeties.

Michelin, Brainerd and Elwick accounted for all three of Coughlin's hits.

Huron stays in 1st place

Romulus 'B' softball leader is upset by Airtrans Hustlers

Third-place Airtrans' Hustlers got only seven hits, but they put them to good use as they knocked off Huron Merchants 4-3 last week in a key Romulus Parks and Recreation women's Class B softball game.

The loss was only the league-leading Huron's second in 13 starts, however, it didn't hurt its first place status. Huron remained atop of the league with a 11-2 record, while Angies' Country Inn, which also was the victim of a 2-1 upset at the hands of fourth-place 5-Points Club, continues to trail the leader in second.

Airtrans erupted for three runs in the first inning off of losing pitcher Donna Moore who then settled down to shut out her rivals until the bottom of the sixth when the winners scored what proved to be the decisive run.

Huron tallied once in each of the final three innings.

Beverly Hobson and Bev Carney

each drilled two hits and batted in runs and Tracy Barnett made her single count for an RBI off of Moore.

Although winning pitcher Carol Minta gave up a total of 10 hits, including a triple and single to Sue Marvasid and two hits each to Sharon Wood and Jan Brown, she was tough in the clutch.
